27 A student rubs a plastic rod with a cloth.

The rod becomes electrically charged and is attracted by a negatively charged object.

Which statement about the rod is correct?

A It is negatively charged because it has gained electrons.

B It is negatively charged because it has lost electrons.

C It is positively charged because it has gained electrons.

D It is positively charged because it has lost electrons.