14 Which statement about the evaporation of a liquid is correct?

A The least energetic particles escape from the surface and the temperature of the liquid decreases.

B The least energetic particles escape from the surface and the temperature of the liquid increases.

C The most energetic particles escape from the surface and the temperature of the liquid decreases.

D The most energetic particles escape from the surface and the temperature of the liquid increases.