29 Light of a single frequency passes through two narrow slits and produces an interference pattern on a screen some distance away. The interference fringes are very close together.

Which change would increase the distance between the fringes?

A Increase the brightness of the light source.

B Increase the distance between the slits and the screen.

C Increase the distance between the two slits.

D Increase the frequency of the light used.