31 What is the definition of the potential difference across an electrical component?

A the charge per unit time passing through the component

B the energy transferred per unit charge

C the force per unit charge

D the resistance per unit current