33 The potential difference (p.d.) across a filament lamp is increased.

Which statement is correct?

A The resistance of the lamp decreases because the temperature decreases.

B The resistance of the lamp decreases because the temperature increases.

C The resistance of the lamp increases because the temperature decreases.

D The resistance of the lamp increases because the temperature increases.