3 A set of repeated measurements is made of a fixed quantity. An average of these measurements is calculated.

What is the effect of averaging on the random error and the systematic error in the measurements?

A Random error and systematic error are both reduced.

B Random error and systematic error are both unaffected.

C Random error is reduced but systematic error is unaffected.

D Random error is unaffected but systematic error is reduced.