32 There is a current in a resistor for a short time interval.

Which statement about the total charge that passes through the resistor is correct?

A It can take any value.

B It is an integer multiple of the elementary charge.

C It is the elementary charge.

D It is the rate of flow of the current.