30 A vibrating bar produces surface water waves in a ripple tank.

The wavelength of the waves is 5.0 cm and they pass through a gap of width 20 cm.

Which change will increase the amount of diffraction that is observed?

A decreasing the distance between the bar and the gap

B decreasing the frequency of the wave

C increasing the amplitude of the wave

D increasing the width of the gap