9 A whale dives to a depth of 3000 m in sea water.

In addition to the gravitational field strength, which variables determine the pressure on the whale due to the water at a depth of 3000 m?

A depth, water density and mass of the whale only

B depth and water density only

C depth, surface area of the whale and mass of the whale only

D depth and surface area of the whale only