39 A beam of radiation, containing α-particles, β-particles and γ-rays, passes between two parallel plates. One plate is positively charged and the other is negatively charged.

Which radioactive emissions will be attracted towards the positively charged plate?

A α-particles only

B β-particles only

C γ-rays only

D α-particles, β-particles and γ-rays